++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Strong winds gradually easing. Sunny start, isolated showers possible later.

Today:
A largely sunny and windy start. Cloud then thickens from the northwest through the day, bringing a few showers. Most southern and eastern parts remaining sunnier and likely staying dry. Winds easing. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Likely dry overnight, with clear skies developing for most and winds easing. Cold, with fog patches possible by dawn, and perhaps localised frost in prone rural spots. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:
Any early fog patches clearing, with sunny periods following for most. Most parts staying dry, although the odd shower cannot be completely ruled out. Light winds, but feeling rather cool. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Bright or sunny spells but also showers Wednesday and Thursday, especially on coasts. Cold especially in brisk winds. Likely drier but cloudy Friday, with winds easing.
